Eutility's Mission

Ensuring customers recover all potential overcharges, receive the lowest forward cost the market can bear and, over the period of our agreement, guarantee our customers pay the lowest price for electricity, natural gas and telecommunications. That is, complete elimination of the risk of overpayment.

About Eutility

Eutility is a wholly Australian owned company. Providing corporate energy and telecommunications cost management solutions to Australian and International companies since 1979, we are pleased to have assisted more than 50,000 organisations to reduce their bottom lines.

Eutility has 40 employees across Australia and, through our ability to consistently provide quality savings for our customers we have built an ongoing client base of 3000 businesses in Australia and internationally.

Museum of Contemporary Art Australia

The Museum of Contemporary Art began using Eutility's cost management services this year for our electricity in order to tender for a three year term with a single provider. The complex process of our tender was completely handled by Eutility. They analysed the usage across all of our areas and based on this they determined the best contract and supplier for us.

The Museum will use Eutility's services to forecast our future budgets and monitor our electricity accounts, ensuring that we receive the predicted savings. We are now in the process of putting together a 3 year energy management plan with the help of Eutility and the Carbon Reduction institute to ensure our future carbon foot print is lessened and enable us ensure accurate carbon management moving forward.

"The Museum of Contemporary Art can recommend Eutility to any organisation looking to see savings over multiple sites for electricity"
